GENERAL CIRCULAR.

Observations on the Courses of Study.

In the selection and arrangement of the studies in the different Courses, the following objects have been kept steadily in view: First, and by far the most important of all, To secure a full and harmonious development of all the mental faculties; Second, To furnish the student with the first principles, and an intelligent outline at least, of those branches of knowledge with which every well-educated man should be to some extent acquainted; Third, To impart, so far as possible, general information, and especially on those subjects popularly called practical. That, however, has been deemed eminently practical which will secure the greatest discipline and the highest culture. The chief object has been, therefore, to bring into exercise, in due proportion, all the faculties, and thus secure the highest degree of mental power. In this way the student will become prepared to grapple successfully with the most important questions to acquire knowledge readily, and to use it to good advantage.

THE CLASSICAL COURSE

Is substantially the same as that of the oldest and most reputable American colleges, and that which long experience has shown to be the best adapted to secure a thorough liberal education. It is recommended in preference to any other.

The degree of "Bachelor of Arts" is conferred upon those who satisfactorily complete this Course.

THE SCIENTIFIC COURSE

Is designed to meet the wants of those who have not the time or means to pursue so long a Course as the Classical. It covers four years, and embraces, besides the Scientific Branches, two years in Latin, and also the German and French. This Course of Study, while it is not so complete as the Classical, is yet fully equal to any Scientific Course pursued in our best institutions.

The degree of "Bachelor of Science" is conferred upon all those who satisfactorily complete this Course.

THE BIBLICAL COURSE

Has been arranged for the benefit of young men preparing for the ministry. Commencing with the Sophomore Year, it runs parallel with the other two Courses, in some cases taking the place of other studies, and in other cases requiring a little extra study. It is intended to lay a good foundation for subsequent study in Theology, and to furnish so much practical knowledge as will enable the young minister to begin his work to good advantage.

THE NORMAL COURSE

Is intended to qualify the student for the practical work of teaching. A class is organized at the beginning of each Term, and a Course of Preparatory Lectures given; and for attendance at these lectures the students receive marks of merit the same as are given in other departments. In the more advanced Course, the students of the class are required, under the supervision of the Professor, to conduct the recitations alternately, and each lesson, as well as the method of the teacher conducting the same, is subjected to review and criticism. By these means it is thought that the best discipline of the Normal School may be attained. This department is under the charge of the Professor of Belles-lettres and History.

ELOCUTION.

A course of instruction has been given during the year, by Prof. J. Ralph Burton, as a member of the Board of Instruction, in Vocalization and the General Principles of Elocution; and by Prof Albert M. Bacon, in Gesture, Position, and Expression.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, the student will be thoroughly examined on all the studies of the two Preparatory Years, and must be at least fourteen years old.

To be admitted to the Scientific Freshman Class, the student must be at least fourteen years old, and be able to pass a good examination on English Grammar, Outlines of English Composition, Modern Geography, Arithmetic, Loomis's Algebra, and Latin Grammar and Cæsar.

N. B.—No one can be admitted who is not well prepared, as above specified.

Candidates for advanced standing will be examined on all the studies of the Course preceding, and no one will be admitted later than the beginning of the Senior Year.

Ladies are admitted to the College Classes on the same condition as gentlemen.

BIBLICAL STUDIES.

Hebrew, and New Testament Greek.

Principles of Interpretation, with exercises in Greek and Hebrew Exegesis.

Systematic and Practical Theology.

Church History.

The above, running through the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Years, are conducted by recitations and lectures.

In the Classical Course, Hebrew may be substituted for French throughout, and New Testament Greek for the Classic during portions of the Junior and Senior Years.

In the Scientific Course, Greek may take the place of Latin, and Hebrew the place of French, throughout.

Surveying and Mensuration in the Third Term of the Sophomore Year may be omitted for an equivalent in Biblical Studies.

Only those who propose to take the entire Biblical Course will be allowed to make the above substitutions.

ELECTIVE STUDIES.

In addition to the elections allowed in the Biblical Course, the students in the Classical Course may choose between the Mathematics and the Latin and Greek, of the Second and Third Terms of the Junior Year.

ECLECTIC COURSE.

Students, who desire so to do, can select out of the Classical and Scientific Courses such studies as they may, by previous training, be prepared to pursue, taking the studies in the order in which they are laid down. But, in all cases, students are advised to take one of the Courses regularly, even if they may not be able to complete it. The great object of education will be best secured in this way.

WEEKLY RECITATIONS.

In addition to the daily recitations, every student recites weekly in Elocution, Oratory, English Composition, or Rhetoric.

During the First and Second Terms, on Saturday of each week, the Senior Class, and during the Third Term the Junior Class, deliver original orations in public.

ANNUAL AND SESSIONAL EXERCISES.

Close of the First Term.—Literary performance of the Junior Class.

Close of the Second Term.—Literary performance of the Sophomore Class.

Close of Each Term.—Public Examination of Classes.

Close of Third Term.—Prize performance of the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Classes. Graduating exercises of the Senior Class.

PROFESSORSHIPS.

THE Studies in the preceding Courses are distributed among the following Professorships:

I. MENTAL AND MORAL SCIENCE.

REUBEN ANDRUS, D. D.

CHRISTIAN Evidences. The text-books laid down in the Course are intended only as guides. The effort is to stimulate to thought and inquiry. Topical recitations, discussions, and familiar lectures occupy the daily hour in the recitation-room.

BOOKS OF REFERENCE.—Cousin's Psychology, Stewart's Active and Moral Powers, Hamilton's Lectures, Paley's Philosophy, Diamond's Essays, Lewes's Biographical History of Philosophy, M'Intosh's History of Ethical Science, and Bain's Moral Science.

Course of Study and Text-Books for the Collegiate Year 1873-74.

SENIOR CLASS.

FIRST TERM, . . .	Psychology, ...	Munsell.
	Æsthetics—Lectures.
SECOND TERM, . .	Moral Philosophy, ...	Winslow.
	Ethical History—Lectures.
THIRD TERM, . . .	Butler's Analogy.
	Christian Evidences. Lectures.

II. NATURAL SCIENCE.

JOSEPH TINGLEY, PH. D.

THIS Department embraces Chemistry, Natural Philosophy, Physiology, Astronomy, Botany, Zoölogy, Mineralogy, and Geology. The student in Chemistry is first made familiar with the properties, names, and symbols of the elements, and with the general principles and laws of the science, by lectures, a full course of experiment, and the use of the text-book. He is then admitted to the Laboratory, and is required to complete an Elementary Course of Qualitative Analysis.

Natural Philosophy is taught principally by Lectures. A well-asorted suite of Apparatus furnishes the means for illustrating all the more interesting truths and laws of the science, excepting those requiring very expensive instruments.

The other branches of Natural Science are taught in part by the use of text-books, and in part by Lectures.

Private instruction given in Analytical, Pharmaceutical, and Agricultural Chemistry.

Course of Study and Text-Books for the Collegiate Year 1873-74.

III. GREEK LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

REV. PHILANDER WILEY, A. M.

The design, in this Department, is to give thorough instruction in the fundamental principles and structure of the Language, and to render familiar the Literature of the different periods.

Constant attention is required to Accent, Grammar, Syntax, Greek-English and English-Greek translations.

The following books of reference are especially recommended:

Kühner, Hadley, Curtius, and Crosby's Grammars, Liddell and Scott's Greek-English Lexicon, Dwight's Mythology, Smith's Ancient Geography with Long's Atlas, Grote's History, Smith's Dictionary of Antiquities, and Yonge's English-Greek Lexicon.

A class is taught in New Testament Greek, in extra-collegiate hours.

Instruction will be afforded also in Sanskrit, in extra-collegiate hours.

IV. BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

REUBEN ANDRUS, D. D.

This is, at present, under the care of the President, aided by the other members of the Faculty. While it is designed mainly for students looking to the ministry, it also, by recitations and lectures, reaches the other members of the College Classes. The Chair will soon be filled by a permanent Professor.

In this Department, instruction will be given in Systematic Divinity, Hebrew Grammar, Hebrew Translation and Exegesis, New Testament Greek and Exegesis, Biblical Archæology, and Homiletics.

VI. BELLES-LETTRES AND HISTORY.

JOHN CLARK RIDPATH, A. M.

From this Chair are taught English Composition, Ancient and Modern History, the Anglo-Saxon and English Languages and Literatures, Logic, Rhetoric, Political Economy, History of Civilization, and International Law. The recitations are conducted by Topics. The student is expected so to analyze and master the subject as to be able to recite without the formality of questions. In Rhetoric and Logic, practice as well as theory is required.

Especial attention is given throughout the Course to criticism in English. The student is at all times encouraged to employ English idioms and English methods of thought, in preference to those which are foreign. In literary discussion, as well as in the lectures on the Philosophy of History, comparisons and parallels are drawn, as far as practicable, from the Literature, Politics, and History of the Anglo-Saxon race, in preference to the nations of antiquity. In the logical and rhetorical praxis of the Course, every effort is made to render those studies of practical utility to the student in shaping his modes of thought and expression.

VII. MODERN LANGUAGES AND HEBREW.

JOHN E. EARP, A. M.

In this, the German Language especially receives a large share of attention, and is not only theoretically taught, but also spoken with the pupils. The students receive, also, lectures on both the German and French Literatures, and the history of the two languages. Extra Classes in German and French are formed during the Junior and Senior years, for the benefit of those who wish to pursue these studies beyond the required Course. The Hebrew Grammar will be thoroughly studied one year, and the Bible one. A class will be formed in Swedish or Sanskrit, whenever a demand is made by students sufficiently advanced.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

DAILY AND WEEKLY ROUTINE.

The exercises of each day will begin with religious services in the College Chapel, commencing at a quarter before eight in the morning. Recitations commence at eight A. M., one hour being devoted to each study. Every student is required to recite not less than three nor more than four lessons daily—excepting Saturday and Sabbath.

Religious Services are held in the College Chapel on Sabbath afternoon, consisting of series of Lectures by members of the Faculty, designed especially for the moral and religious education of the student. All are required to attend.

On Sabbath morning, the students are required to attend public worship at such churches as they or their parents may select, and it is expected that each student be uniform in his attendance at the church of his choice.

Prayer and class meetings are regularly held for those who wish to attend.

GOVERNMENT.

The government of this Institution is designed to be at once preventive and corrective. It constantly assumes the moral sense of the student, and relies upon his sense of right, and his disposition to do right, for its efficiency; yet if, in any case, these fail, it has the means at hand to correct the evil.

Whenever a student has entered College, he is regarded as subject to all its laws till his connection is formally closed, either by graduation or otherwise; and no student will be allowed to absent himself from College, either at the beginning of a Term, or at any other time, except by express permission of the Faculty, and, in the case of a minor, by written permission of his parent or guardian, obtained before the absence occurs.

Requirements and Prohibitions.—Punctual and regular attendance at recitation, at public College exercises, at prayers and at church, and observance of study hours, are required of every student. Ungentlemanly treatment of fellow-students or citizens; disrespect toward the Faculty; irreverence at church; amusements, visits of pleasure, gathering in groups, and noise in rooms on the Sabbath; smoking in the College buildings; absence from room at night on any account, except to attend the sick, later than ten o'clock; loud conversation, loud laughing, wrestling, jumping, or other unnecessary noise in the College building or campus; leaving town without the knowledge and consent of the President; contracting debts without the knowledge and consent of parents or guardians; disorderly deportment at boarding-houses or elsewhere; permitting disorder in a room by any person whatever; writing upon or otherwise defacing the College building or furniture; using obscene or profane language; wearing fire-arms or other weapons; visiting circuses or theaters; card-playing and gambling of every kind; visiting drinking, billiard, or gambling saloons; drinking intoxicating liquors, or even keeping them in room or elsewhere; and all other breaches of good morals or good order,—are strictly and totally prohibited.

No student habitually violating any of the rules of the Institution, or who will persist in any criminal practices and indulgences, will be allowed to remain at the Institution.

MERIT ROLL.

All absences from recitation, prayers, lectures, and church, his deportment and his average standing as a student in each department of study, are placed in a record prepared for that purpose, and at the end of each Term, and at other times, if desired, an abstract of this record is sent to the parents or guardians of such as are minors. The standard of perfection, whether in scholarship, punctuality, or deportment, is one hundred.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of each Term, all classes of that Term are examined upon their studies in the presence of the Examining Committees appointed for that purpose. The Examinations are public. Every student must attend the Examinations.

The Annual Examinations will be upon the studies of the entire Year, and the closing Examination of the Senior Class upon the entire Course.

Candidates for Class Standing, other than those who have regularly pursued their studies at the Institution, are required to pass special Examinations, either at the beginning or ending of a Term, no one being eligible to such Examination who has not paid the Janitor Fee for that Term.

THE EARP PRIZE.

Through the liberality of Rev. Joseph Earp, of the Southern Illinois Conference, a prize was offered, last year, for excellence in declamation: which a committee, selected by the Faculty of the University, awarded—First Prize to S. D. M'Clain; Second, to John B. De Motte.

The same prize is offered this year to contestants from the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Classes.

COMMENCEMENT.

The last week of the Third Term is appropriated to the closing exercises of the Year, including the Annual Examinations, the Literary Performances of the Societies, the Reunion and Literary Exercises of the Society of Alumni, the Annual Prize Contest, the Baccalaureate Sermon, Annual Lecture, and the Graduating exercises of the Senior Class.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LOCATION.

The Indiana Asbury University is located at Greencastle, forty miles west of Indianapolis, at the intersection of the Terre Haute and Richmond, Indianapolis and St. Louis Railroads with the New Albany and Chicago Railroad.

The country about Greencastle is rolling, well timbered, well watered, fertile, and beautiful. The place is believed to be one of the most healthy west of the Alleghany Mountains. The people are intelligent, moral, and religious.

ENDOWMENT.

An attempt to endow the Institution, in its earlier history, by the sale of perpetual Scholarships at $500 each, and of limited Scholarships for sums varying with the number of years for which they were issued, having proved but partially successful, in 1844 a plan for permanent endowment, by the sale of perpetual Scholarships at $100 each, was projected. Efficient agents were appointed to carry out the plan. Up to the close of the year 1858, there had been collected, in cash and notes, for permanent endowment, about $75,000, of which over $67,000 have been profitably invested. Centenary donations added about $60,000 to this amount. In 1871, Robert Stockwell, Esq., of Lafayette, Ind., gave $25,000 for the endowment of a Professorship. The Trustees, in honor of the generous donor, have selected Professor Wiley's Chair, and called it the "Robert Stockwell Chair of the Greek Language and Literature." This year, Robert Stockwell has added to his former munificent gift $27,000. Means which promise success are still employed for steadily increasing the endowment.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Perpetual Scholarships, granting the right of tuition to the purchaser, his son or grandson, or any person selected by him, under certain restrictions, may be yet secured by paying to the Treasurer or Agent the sum of one hundred dollars for each Scholarship.

Scholarships conveying similar privileges for six years may be had for thirty dollars; twelve years for fifty dollars.

In the use of these Scholarships, any other person than the son or grandson of the original purchaser must present a written certificate from the owner that no compensation therefor is received or expected from the student or his friends.

The design is thus to secure free tuition to every student of limited means; and it is believed that this field of benevolent enterprise is worthy the attention of all persons able to purchase, for so small a sum, the "franking privilege" of the University. As Scholarships continue to be sold, and donations and bequests flow into the treasury, all the departments of a university education will doubtless be thus made, in effect, free to all. Scholarships for ladies can be purchased on the same terms as for gentlemen.

LIBRARIES.

The Libraries of the University, accessible to students, number, in the aggregate, about 10,000 volumes.

The Whitcomb Library, the noble bequest of the late Governor Whitcomb, is an exceedingly valuable collection of books in every department of literature, having been selected by the lamented governor, in his latter years, with the greatest care and discrimination. It numbers 4,500 volumes, and is carefully arranged and preserved in a room devoted to this Library alone.

The College Circulating Library contains over three thousand well-selected volumes, mostly purchased with funds donated for that purpose.

The Libraries of the Literary Societies consist of selections made from time to time by the Society authorities, and purchased with funds derived partly from donations and partly from sessional revenues, it being the aim to devote annually a portion of the revenue to the continual improvement of the Libraries.

APPARATUS AND CABINET.

The Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, though not of the most expensive kind, is sufficient for the illustration of the more important principles of Experimental Philosophy. It includes the usual Apparatus of the Laboratory, a fine Achromatic Telescope, by Fitz, of New York, of four and one-half inches aperture; complete sets of Polarizing Apparatus; Meteorological, Electrical, and Magnetical Apparatus, of the most approved and effective forms; and various instruments for illustration in Optics and Thermotics.

An excellent Level, Surveyor's Compass, etc., furnish the necessary instruments for Practical Surveying and Engineering.

The Dowling Cabinet, the gift of the late Dr. Dowling, of New Albany, is of itself an extensive and valuable collection of Minerals and Fossils. Combined, as it is, with a large collection of specimens, obtained by donation and exchange, the whole Cabinet furnishes much valuable aid in the studies of Mineralogy and Geology.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Three Literary Societies—the Platonean, Philological, and Philomathean—afford the usual opportunities for exercise in forensic and parliamentary usages. Their halls are well furnished, and provided with libraries, numbering each about one thousand volumes.

BOARDING.

No arrangements for boarding students are made by the Institution. Boarding is readily obtained in private families at as moderate rates as circumstances will allow, and varying according to the expensiveness of living, from $3.50 to $4.50 per week. In many cases students board themselves. They rent a room suitably furnished, or sometimes furnish it themselves, and in this way reduce the expenses of boarding to two dollars and fifty cents, and in some instances to one dollar and fifty cents per week. No student will be allowed to board at a public house.

N. B.—Several clubs have been organized, in which many have boarded well for about $2.25 per week, and with but little trouble.

INCIDENTAL EXPENSES.

The cost of clothing, traveling, etc., will vary considerably with the circumstances and habits of the student. A strict economy is best for all. As a general estimate, it may be stated that the whole expense of a young man in the University need not exceed from $200 to $300 per annum. All above the latter amount, it is believed, is very often worse than thrown away.

Parents having minor sons at the University are earnestly requested to select some friend in Greencastle to receive and disburse the money necessary for their support. If parents intrust it to their sons, they should not complain if it be squandered, or if consequences even more serious should ensue. The utmost vigilance on the part of the Faculty is insufficient to prevent the evils in question. These can be prevented only by putting the means of indulgence into the hands of a trusty friend, who will render regularly an account to the parent.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

This Department is designed to give thorough preparation for the College Classes, and is under the care and supervision of the Faculty, aided by competent tutors. Candidates for this Department must be at least twelve years old, and well grounded in the general principles of Modern Geography, English Grammar, and Arithmetic, in addition to Reading, Writing, and Orthography. Ample facilities are furnished to the students in this Department for improvement in Composition and Declamation.
